Expects Continued Rise in Market Until End of Conflict Is in Sight.

New York, May 11.—In many ways today's stock market seemed to indicate a reawakening interest of a legitimate kind. Manipulation was not so apparent as in several previous sessions and there was considerable buying not only for investment, but for operators of importance. The buying was of a quiet sort and was so conducted as not to advance prices. This is the kind of buying that usually precedes a general market rise.

Monday and Tuesday's session there was rather free short selling by professionals, who had withdrawn and went back to 86, with the bid price unchanged. Washington Gas was bid up to 76, after call, with an apparent disposition to provoke a sale, but no results.

Upturn in Marine Expected.

An upturn in Marine preferred is expected in certain usually well informed professional quarters, and the tip went out yesterday that this line is about ready to become a good buy again.

Rock Island Mortgage Large.

It is reliably reported that the new blanket mortgage of the Rock Island will be around $600,000,000, though not all of this amount will be issued.

Wheat Firming Up Little.

Just before close yesterday the following prediction was made by a big wheat dealer:

"Wheat is firming up a little on the continuation of bad reports from the southwest. The immediate course of values will depend on the appearance or non-appearance of rain."
